The European arrest warrant ("EAW") is a simplified cross-border judicial surrender procedure – for the purpose of prosecuting or executing a custodial sentence or detention order. A warrant issued by one EU country's judicial authority is valid in the entire territory of the EU.

The European arrest warrant has been operational since 1 January 2004. It has replaced the lengthy extradition procedures that used to exist between EU countries.

How it works

This is a request by a judicial authority in one EU country to arrest a person in another and surrender them for prosecution, or to execute a custodial sentence or detention order issued in the first country. The mechanism is based on the principle of mutual recognition of judicial decisions. It is operational in all EU countries.

It operates via direct contacts between judicial authorities.

In applying the EAW, authorities have to respect the procedural rights of suspects or accused persons – such as the right to information, to have a lawyer, and an interpreter, and to legal aid as stipulated by law in the country where they are arrested.

How is it different to traditional extradition?

1. Strict time limits
   - The country where the person is arrested has to take a final decision on the execution of the European arrest warrant within 60 days after the arrest of the person.
   - If the person consents to the surrender, the surrender decision must be taken within 10 days.
   - The person requested must be surrendered as soon as possible on a date agreed between the authorities concerned, and no later than 10 days after the final decision on the execution of the European arrest warrant.

2. Double criminality check – no longer required for 32 categories of offences
   - For 32 categories of offences, there is no verification on whether the act is a criminal offence in both countries. The only requirement is that it be punishable by a maximum period of at least 3 years of imprisonment in the issuing country. For other offences, surrender may be subject to the condition that the act constitutes an offence in the executing country.

3. No political involvement
   - Decisions are made by judicial authorities alone, with no political considerations involved.

4. Surrender of nationals
   - EU countries can no longer refuse to surrender their own nationals, unless they take over the execution of the prison sentence against the wanted person.

5. Guarantees
   - The country that executes the EAW may require guarantees that:
     a. after a certain period the person will have the right to ask for review, if the punishment imposed is a life sentence.
     b. the wanted person can do any resulting prison time in the executing country, if they are a national or habitual resident of that country.

Limited grounds for refusal

A country can refuse to surrender the requested person only if one of the grounds for mandatory or optional refusal applies:

Mandatory grounds

- the person has already been judged for the same offence (ne bis in idem)
- minors (the person has not reached the age of criminal responsibility in the executing country)
- amnesty (the executing country could have prosecuted them, and the offence is covered by an amnesty in that country).
Optional grounds – such as:

- lack of double criminality for offences other than the 32 listed in Article 2(2) of the Framework Decision on EAW
- territorial jurisdiction
- pending criminal procedure in the executing country
- statute of limitations, etc.

Handbook on How to Issue and Execute an EAW

The European Commission published a Handbook on How to Issue and Execute a European arrest warrant (2002 Kb), to facilitate and simplify the daily work of concerned judicial authorities. The Handbook provides detailed guidance on the procedural steps for issuing and executing an EAW. The Handbook also provides for a complete explanation of the major case-law of the Court of Justice of the European Union interpreting particular provisions of the Framework Decision on EAW.

The handbook in all languages can be found here: BG(2700 Kb), CS(1854 Kb), DA(1766 Kb), DE(1659 Kb), ET(1783 Kb), EL(2439 Kb), ES(1649 Kb), FR(1892 Kb), HR(1789 Kb), IT(2141 Kb), LV(2158 Kb), HU(1908 Kb), MT(2560 Kb), NL(2047 Kb), PL(2200 Kb), PT(1968 Kb), RO(1926 Kb), SL(1797 Kb), SK(1977 Kb), FI(2172 Kb), SV(1591 Kb).

Statistics on EAW use

In 2017, on average the wanted persons were surrendered:

- with consent – in 15 days
- without consent – in 40 days.

Replies to questionnaire on EAW: 2014 | 2015 | 2016 | 2017

Data is not available for all countries; however, issued EAWs data is complete for 2015, 2016 and 2017.

|-------------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|

Projects funded under the Justice Programme

The InAbsentiaEAW research project is a comparative legal study into European Arrest Warrants (EAW) relating to persons who were not present in the proceedings leading to their conviction (in absentia proceedings). Practice shows that it often comes to problems in issuing and executing such EAWs. The goal of the research project was to analyse the causes for these problems and to formulate common standards for issuing such EAWs in order to ensure their smooth and fair execution. The research was conducted by means of case studies from Belgium, Hungary, Ireland, the Netherlands, Poland, and Romania.

Related links

- Framework Decision on the European arrest warrant
- Report on the implementation of Council Framework Decision on the European arrest warrant and the surrender procedures between Member States

---

This page is maintained by the European Commission. The information on this page does not necessarily reflect the official position of the European Commission. The Commission accepts no responsibility or liability whatsoever with regard to any information or data contained or referred to in this document. Please refer to the legal notice with regard to copyright rules for European pages.

The Commission is in the process of updating some of the content on this website in the light of the withdrawal of the United Kingdom from the European Union. If the site contains content that does not yet reflect the withdrawal of the United Kingdom, it is unintentional and will be addressed.

Last update: 08/07/2020