

Home>Trainings, judicial networks and agencies>Training of justice professionals>National training systems

Nationale Aus- und Fortbildungssysteme

Informationen über die Organisation nationaler Schulungsmaßnahmen für Rechtspraktiker. Die EU-Länder stellen durch geeignete Vorkehrungen die Qualität und den Umfang der Schulungsmaßnahmen sicher.

Initial training of judges and prosecutors in the European Union

This section presents the initial training scheme in the EU Member States for judges and prosecutors: entry conditions, objectives and substance, length and organisation, final evaluation.

Initial training of lawyers in the European Union

This section presents the initial training scheme in the EU Member States for lawyers: entry conditions, objectives and substance, length and organisation, final evaluation.

Judiciary training providers

National training structures are the main providers of European judicial training for the judiciary. Schools providing initial and continuous training exist in 17 Member States. In others, training is organised by the justice ministry, the council for the judiciary or court services.

Court staff training systems

National Ministries of Justice and courts are the main organisers of court staff training in the EU Member States. In other Member States this task is performed by judicial academies or judicial structures such as Councils and Prosecutors' Offices.

Lawyers' training systems

Bar Associations, private practices or law firms, training providers and universities are the main organisers of lawyers' induction period in the EU Member States. In some Member States, this task is performed by Courts of Appeal and the Ministry of Justice. Supervision of continuous training, where it exists, is ensured by the Bar.