

Citizens

Access for EU citizens to topical pages and publications regarding civil and commercial law assistance

How the EJM (in civil and commercial matters) can help citizens

The EJM (in civil and commercial matters) facilitates relations between national judicial authorities which in turn benefits people involved in cross-border civil and commercial cases.

The EJM (in civil and commercial matters) helps to improve effective access to justice in the following ways:

- It provides citizens directly with a wide range of information on European, national and international civil and commercial law through pages on specific topics which are available here.
- It has also developed a number of publications, notably for citizens on specific Union law instruments.

This page is maintained by the European Commission. The information on this page does not necessarily reflect the official position of the European Commission. The Commission accepts no responsibility or liability whatsoever with regard to any information or data contained or referred to in this document. Please refer to the legal notice with regard to copyright rules for European pages.

The Commission is in the process of updating some of the content on this website in the light of the withdrawal of the United Kingdom from the European Union. If the site contains content that does not yet reflect the withdrawal of the United Kingdom, it is unintentional and will be addressed.

Last update: 20/11/2019